Opening Statements

Parliamentarian, Ella Nichols

- Assembly Announcement: There will not be an assembly tomorrow. They will start back up next week with Sarah Neely, an ASMS alumnus who won the prestigious Goldwater scholarship.

Sergeant at Arms, Nathan Kim

- Pi Store Updates: Pi Store will not run the next two weeks because we are all virtual, but after we get back there will be a Sam's run and the store will then run normally.

Secretary, Caroline Nelson

- Advisory Updates: The deadline to sign up for advisory is today, so please encourage your friends to sign up.
- Virtual Student Survey: The deadline to complete the survey is on Friday so please encourage friends, or yourself, to complete it.
- Test Prep Sessions: Dr Frye has given approval for the SGA to offer a full length PSAT test. We will be using the college board test and deciding on the date soon.

Treasurer, Marie Naylor

- CLC Updates: Once we get back to campus the coffee house renovation will be completed and the student body will be able to input other ideas and suggestions.

Vice President, Joy Buchi

- WF Updates: Winter Formal is on January 23rd and the next two weeks, we will be finalizing the decorations and all in person logistics. It will be announced to the student body tomorrow and posted on social media.

President, May Jung

- Policy Committee Updates: The sustainable caf will start as soon as we get back from break. They are still working on implementing the TED talks.
- SGA Guidebook: The Guidebook is due Thursday so remember to keep working on it!

Sponsors

- Mr Barry:
- Mrs McMaken: The Leadership team was proud and grateful that we got halfway through the year without any positive cases on campus. We need to encourage our peers to make wise decisions the next two weeks regarding their health and safety. There is no set time for officer elections, but anyone interested in shadowing for a position should let that officer know!

Closing Remarks
